EIS Progress in Q3 2019

- Implemented measurable evaluation process to screen concepts and optimize alternatives

- Developed methodologies for the following analyses:
  - Water Quality
  - Economics
  - Numerical Modeling of Hydrodynamics & Sediment Transport
  - Fish & Wildlife
  - Wetlands & Vegetation
  - Land Use, Shorelines, & Recreation

- Engaged third-party experts to enhance the EIS process

- Continued fieldwork in and around Capitol Lake to support technical analyses
Third-Party Experts to Enhance the EIS Process

- Ensures technical analyses are using industry-recognized best practices
- Ensures that a reasonable level of analysis will be completed to allow for comparison of alternatives
- Independently reviews the draft methodology and draft discipline reports for:
  - Water Quality
  - Economics
  - Numerical Modeling of Hydrodynamics and Sediment Transport
- Due to stakeholder interest, these methodologies were posted to the project website, following third-party review

Fieldwork to Support Technical Analyses

- April: Began coordinating closely with Ecology’s spill response team
- May: Began collecting monthly water quality samples
  - Sampling will continue monthly through October
- June: Initiated an ongoing recreation survey
- July: Attempted a bathymetric survey of Capitol Lake
  - Abandoned due to dense vegetation growth
  - Will reattempt in November after vegetation die-off
- July and September: Conducted initial site reconnaissance of wetlands and vegetation
Work Group Engagement in Q2 & Q3 2019

Executive Work Group and Technical Work Group
• Reviewed proposed measurable evaluation process
• Sought input on methodologies for technical analyses

Funding and Governance Work Group
• Workplan for developing a shared funding and governance framework for the Preferred Alternative
• Will meet jointly with the EWG on 9/20 to review economic foundations and potential options for shared funding and governance
Legislative Coordination in Q2 & Q3 2019

- Project update briefing with Capitol Campus Design Advisory Committee and State Capitol Committee
- Coordination with key legislators regarding project delivery approach
- Submittal of budget request for full project funding
Community Engagement in Q3 2019

- June Meeting with the Community Sounding Board
  - Follow-up from April Meeting
  - Discussed updates to measurable evaluation process
  - Exercise to support the recreation analysis

- Sent project updates through quarterly e-newsletters to mailing list

- Interacted at Capital Lakefair as part of the recreation survey
Community Sounding Board - Input into the EIS

- Change to comparative analysis of project components
- Support to recreation analysis
- Considerations during design process
What’s Next: Project Activities through Q4 2019

- Design the Optimized Alternatives – Managed Lake, Estuary, and Hybrid
- Complete fieldwork and data collection
- Begin the numerical modeling of hydrodynamics and sediment transport
- Meet with Work Groups – Executive, Technical, and Funding & Governance
- Engage the Community Sounding Board
- Continue with the range of technical analyses
